

FBCM College Student Prayer Packages

Our church has many students away at college. College is a wonderful opportunity for personal growth and development. It is the first opportunity for many people to venture out on their own and start their adult lives. Our college students must find Christian support and fellowship that will help them to grow and resist the many temptations that face them. However, it is not simply personal challenges that face our students. There are few fields for evangelism as fertile as college campuses. Other students like them are searching for their identities and future direction. They can learn all the facts about calculus, biology, or business, however they can easily miss THE TRUTH. College students are missionaries to their campuses carrying with them the one truth of Christ Jesus and the hope of eternal life. We would like to pair up families or individuals in the church with college students. These individuals will commit to sending prayer packages to the student once a semester. Prayer packages are care packages of cookies, candies, etc. with the additional commitment to pray for that student.

You will be hearing more about opportunities to pair up with a student in the coming weeks. Our first objective is to compile a full list of our college students and deployed military personnel. If you know of someone affiliated with our church that is currently at college or in the military that would be interested in getting a care package from the church, please fill out this form and return it to Will Housley, or e-mail me at whousley@gmail.com.
